

Labor Legislation Topic of Speaker

Weaknesses in Labor Legislation will be the topic discussed by Mr. Philip Kennedy, a labor-management-relations lawyer from Cincinnati, Ohio, in the College Theatre next Wednesday evening, Feb. 26. Mr. Kennedy appears as the second speaker in the newly inaugurated lecture series sponsored by the Commerce Club.

Since Mr. Kennedy handles cases for either the labor or the management group, he is qualified to dwell upon his topic from the viewpoint of both these factions.

After receiving his AB degree from Xavier University in 1925, Mr. Kennedy attended the Harvard University law school from which he was graduated in 1928. He then taught full time for one year at Xavier; this included night classes.

Following this year of full-time teaching, he joined the law firm of Kane, Kennedy, Brandt and Morris. Mr. Kennedy is associated with this firm at the present time. He specializes in labor contracts and independent union work.

Tickets for the lecture may be obtained now from any member of the Commerce Club for fifty cents. Club members will be admitted on their membership card.

Dr. Waldemar Gurian, professor of social sciences at the University of Notre Dame, was the first lecturer in the current series. He spoke here last Dec. 9.

Retreat March 7-9 Offers No Holidays

Dates for the annual Retreat have been announced by the Rev. Edward A. Maziarz, c.p.p.s., director of student welfare. The Retreat will open Friday evening, Mar. 7, and will close the following Sunday morning. The identity of the Retreat master has not as yet been disclosed.

Presence of all students at the conferences and services of the Retreat is obligatory, Father Maziarz said. Permission to leave the campus for the week end will not be granted under ordinary circumstances.

Since tomorrow, Feb. 22, has been declared a holiday, the Retreat, originally scheduled for this week end, was moved back to the present date.

Stuff, Other Pubs Move Out Of Gaspar Only Puns Remain

No longer will the clatter of the addressograph and the nameplate puncher—that's what it does, not what it is—have to vie with the sudden, slippery puns of Paul Monastyrski in trying to unnerve the members of the STUFF staff.

Quite a lot has gone on in 109 Gaspar Hall since the last student moved out. It housed all the alumni files, plus the above named alumni secretary in his awake hours; many issues of Measure, the literary magazine, have been born there; this year's Phase, the yearbook, began in that room; it was the home of Contact, the alumni paper. Of course, it was familiarly known as the STUFF office.

Last summer workers came, kicked a couple floors and walls out of the old boiler house, erected a few others, spotted a few new windows, and the present publications building resulted. Now it will be a near impossibility for Father Ley to lose his pipe under eye-high piles of files and letters. Each of the above organs and departments of the college will have its own office within the comparatively spacious confines of the new building.

Though the offices are still lacking a much needed coat of paint, the quarters are not without modernity. Even an elevator has been installed to go from the top floor, the second, all the way down to the post office on the ground floor. But it's not for personal use; it's to save falling up and down stairways while carrying bundles of STUFFs. The people walk; the publications ride.

Critic Finds Voice Control Tops In 'Orchid'

Those who attended the Curtain Club's staging of Brother Orchid last Monday evening were impressed by the voice control of every one of the eleven actors. Although the auditorium was not half filled, from any point in it every word was distinctly heard. Genuine praise for amateurs.

This is not the first time that I witnessed the play. And I wish to proudly add that I did not see the movie version of it. Leo Brady, the playwright, is not a Shakespeare, nor even a Fletcher or Massinger. But he has written a drama that lends itself happily to pleasing presentation by an all-male cast. Maybe the satire isn't perfectly subtle.

There's enough comedy to satisfy the astute yearnings of those who idealize Bob Hope and other top jesters of the day. Dominic Battista, played by Paul Wohlwend, furnishes much of this. Paul didn't steal the show, but only because Robert Hunt in the lead as Little John Sarto and Brother Orchid, and the entire supporting cast were so good.

Weekly Calendar

Saturday, Feb. 22—Holiday; Washington's Birthday. All the classes suspended.

Tuesday, Feb. 25, 7 p. m.—Glee Club rehearsal. Basketball; Pumas vs. Hanover (away).

Wednesday, Feb. 26, 8 p. m.—Commerce Club lecture; Philip Kennedy, Cincinnati lawyer will speak on "Weaknesses in Labor Legislation."

Wednesday, Feb. 26, 1 - 3 p. m.—Contact representative H. R. Pitts, for veterans. Reception Room, Administration Building.

Lettermen Consider Sudy Band For Prom

Because Freddie Nagel has a previous engagement with his orchestra on May 10, the date set for the annual senior prom, a substitute orchestra is being sought by the Monogram Club and juniors. The groups are now contacting Joe Sudy.

At present Sudy's orchestra is completing an engagement in the Walnut room of the Bismark Hotel in Chicago. It may be heard over the radio every Wednesday at 10:30 p. m.

Seminar Opens Series Of Talks By Faculty Men

Organized by the Division of Philosophy and Religion, a seminar composed of the members of the faculty in this division will be held next Friday evening, Feb. 28. The Rev. Edwin Kaiser, c.p.p.s., is chairman of the division.

Thus far a series of four such seminars has been planned. The Very Rev. Henry A. Lucks, c.p.p.s., president of the college, will speak next Friday on "The Integration of the Curriculum." A discussion will follow the talk.

Other speakers and the tentative dates of their discussions are as follows: Father Kaiser, professor of religion, will talk on "The Fate of the Unbaptized Infant" on Mar. 21; the Rev. Edward A. Maziarz, c.p.p.s., instructor in philosophy, will discuss "The Problem of the Continuum" next April 25; concluding the series, the Rev. Cletus Kern, c.p.p.s., assistant professor of philosophy, will speak on "Extra-sensory Perception" May 16.

For the present time the location of the talks has been set for room 132 in the classroom building.

Editor Distributes 'Phase' Copy Tasks

Assignments for the preparation of copy for Phase, the college yearbook, were distributed among the editorial staff at a meeting Tuesday evening.

According to Geo. Ellspermann, Phase editor, all copy must be in the hands of the printer by the middle of March. The printer will then have sixty days in which to finish the book.

All pictures to be used in the annual have been sent to the engravers. As the proofs return they will be sent with the copy to the printer. All proofs will have been returned here by March 15.

Advisors Aid Classes; Will Attend Meetings

Information recently received from the office of the Rev. Edward A. Maziarz, c.p.p.s., director of student welfare, made known the appointments of class faculty advisors. It will be the duty of each advisor to attend the meetings of the class under his charge and to assist, in an advisory capacity, in conducting class affairs and entertainments.

Selected for the positions were the Revs. Raphael Gross, c.p.p.s., senior class moderator; Robert Siebeneck, c.p.p.s., junior class advisor. The Revs. Charles Rueve, c.p.p.s., and James Birkley, c.p.p.s., will assist in handling the affairs of the sophomore and freshman classes respectively. These advisors will in this way act as aids to the director of student welfare.

This class faculty advisor system and the above appointments were sanctioned by the Committee on Student Organizations and Entertainments.

Way Of Cross Devotion Held Each Friday Night

Public recitation of the Way of the Cross will take place in the Chapel each Friday evening during Lent. The Stations will immediately precede the evening benediction.

'I Will' Counts Also

Without fear of being brash we can be fairly safe in asserting that for about forty-six out of a year's fifty-two weeks, most thoughts of self-denial are stowed deeply away in our minds and are heavily secured there with other notions; notions on how to make life easier and more pleasant.

With added liberties regarding fast and abstinence accorded to Collegeville by the Most Reverend Bishop's dispensation, the Lenten season will amount to exactly what we, each one of us individually, wish to make it. Excepting for a few days of obligatory abstinence, we are not bound to perform extra penances.

Lent and self-denial invariably fuse into one thought at the suggestion of penance with regard to this season. Since self-denial implies a negation of something, it is easy to explain the list of "I won'ts" which crop up through Lent. Indeed, the negations constitute an admirable way of observing Lent; however, it is possible to go further.

As a sort of balancing measure, we should accompany our denials with something on the positive side; make Lent a little more than a series of things which we resolve not to do. We know that we acquire more merit from sacrifices undertaken voluntarily than from those which we are obliged to perform. The chapel and grotto afford excellent opportunities for actually "doing something positive" during Lent. Arising early for Mass and Communion is a source of great sacrifice for most of us. It seems quite logical to assume that we would be judged more by what we accomplish rather than by what we do not accomplish.

For many of us this will be the first opportunity in several years to make a "good Lent." Neither the time nor the facilities while in military service were available, in most cases, to aid in effecting an exemplary observance of Lent.

Whether the above applies or not, we should all strive for the humility, gained through penance and the frequent reception of the Sacraments, which will lift us up and hold us in the favor of God.

He Won't Stay Long

The latest song craze to sweep the nation, and also engulf the campus, involves that famous keeper of the portals, Richard. No one else in the history of the world, with the exception of St. Peter, has been asked to open the door so often as the notorious Richard.

Apparently no one knows exactly where he lives, but almost all the vocalists in the land know he can't come out because they have his only suit on. Perhaps if they would be kind enough to give it back, Richard would concede to come out in the open and give his audience a peek at his profile. If this ever takes place it will be the biggest news of the day, and also tend to make life more bearable for the Richards on the campus.

So far this unlucky fictitious character has been charged with everything from violating social rules to starting the recent cold wave. On the campus he is the individual behind the locked doors of the J cafe just when you feel the need of a coke.

What Do You Think?

Here Are Views Of A Few

At the recent regional convention of the National Federation of Catholic College Students held here at St. Joseph's, one of the topics which was much discussed concerned military conscription. The NFCCS resolved to oppose conscription on the grounds that it was not in keeping with our way of life; of course, this applied to peacetime conscription. This week we queried some of the students to get their views on the matter. "What do you think of the extension of national military conscription?"

Dave Vigil, chem major from Albuquerque, N. M., recently out of the academy, is of the opinion that the draft should be kept up for a few years more, or until the emergency is declared to be over. He added, "If a young man wants a military career I think he should consider seriously the various ROTC units in the nation's universities; in this way he can prepare for his career and get his college education at the same time."

"In time of peace, a small, highly specialized, well-paid, voluntary army would be much more efficient than a large untrained one." This is how Edward McKinley, Saginaw, Mich., looks at it. "If the pay is high enough, the army will get enough volunteers to meet the requirements."

Cyril Bohney, phy. ed. major from Schererville, Ind., thinks the draft should be kept up as the United Nations has not yet shown much progress along the peace-making lines. He added, "Keep a standing army of highly trained technicians for peacetime security. Make the army a well-paid profession. Military science courses taught in colleges would help considerably in training men for this profession."

"Keep up conscription for a while yet," said Art Brophy, Dyer, Ind., English major. "But when there is no crisis to prepare for, military training would do more harm than good to the men in training. For now, while things are still a little ticklish, the draft should be kept up."

Dan Griffith, Fort Wayne pre-engineer thinks that "They should discontinue the draft at the end of the emergency. I don't believe that will be too far in the future."

Retain conscription for the present time, but discontinue it when the situation will permit, seems to be what most of the students thought about conscription. None favored the permanent retention of the draft.

CAMPUS CAPERS

Art Silk and the Czar are singing the blues in duet now, using the words, "They've got all kinds at Mundelein." But the big Valentine Day dance was a success anyway, even if that one vocalist didn't know how to sing. Those who did all the decorating must have really cringed when they saw how quickly crepe paper could be torn down.

There must have been quite a lot of activity after the dance, too. Who was the fellow, sometimes referred to as Alvin J. Paris, that was playing elevator boy to a suitcase shuttle at the Rensselaer? Room 100 there had open house; broken house, that is. But curfew finally closed it.

Still cleaning up on his big deal in back of Drexel Hall is Russ (Rassel) Lavengood, the keeper of the keys to the house of the chickens. They'll be fat enough for eating soon.

Several of the boys came back for the week end; Lou Bernhard, Ben Bladel and Gerry McCarthy, of the current crop of grads, and Tom Joyce and Johnny Paylo, from other years, checked in.

Jim Angermeier thought it advisable not to go to last week's dance as he is strongly convinced of the fact that even the decorations have eyes and mouths. He had some tall explaining to do after the NFCCS party the week before. But the water that Black Jack DeWitt was in must have been a lot hotter, as he had to go all the way to Eville for patching-up exercises.

It was a great day for the Irish in the back locker room at the Renssy gym when McCarthy and Buckley entertained their folk songs and dance. The "Wild Irish Rose" had company from Poland.

When will the group from Indianapolis find out that the windowless Red Rocket was almost pressed into service; better make that pushed into service.

Speaking of cars that don't run, who'll donate a pony to carry the mail, which must go through, even if the truck is laid up with injuries?"

Fireman Fred Beckman saved the day when he ran out of the ad building with a flaming barrel of refuse. Well, it was smoking.

You may now switch elsewhere; speaking of a switch, that's where I can be found asleep at the.

Sure, I told you the game was first!

Grown for a Purpose

In many of the more abused grassy parts of the campus, small white signs on which is plainly printed the word PLEASE, like that, have sprung up recently. They grew, strangely enough directly in the middle of the short cuts. It is too bad for the appearance of the campus that after each aspiring Moses has crossed through a worn path, the grass does not grow back together again in the manner of the Dead Sea.

That the little signs say only PLEASE seems to be an over-estimation of intelligence, let's call it common sense, instead, on the part of some of us natives. The signs assume that we know that the PLEASE by itself does not mean "Please jump over me." And during the spring-like days ahead when the winter will be thawing out of the ground, will we have to have a sign to keep us out of the mud?

RITZ THEATRE—Feb. 23-27—Blue Skies—Three of Hollywood's brightest stars, backed by Irving Berlin's music, make this technicolor film appealing to movie goers. Bing Crosby, as a night-club owner, finds time to croon no less than sixteen songs. Fred Astaire and Joan Caulfield portray night-club entertainers. They combine to put on several very good dance routines. Billy De Wolfe and Olga San Juan, in minor roles, help make this a combination musical comedy. No decency rating available.

Feb. 28-March 1—Bowery Bombshell—Leo Gorcey and his quaint friends, commonly called the 'Bowery Boys,' turn a bank-robbing episode into a laugh riot. Best part of the show is the boys' imitation of a gang of thugs. Unobjectionable for adults.

PALACE THEATRE—Feb. 23-25—The Mighty McGurk—Wallace Berry combines the one-two punch of laughter and excitement in his latest film. In this one he plays the part of an ex-fighter. This is just the type of role he was cut out for, and he plays it to perfection. Edward Arnold and young Dean Stockwell have the supporting parts. Berry, famous for his scenes with youngsters, has several moving ones with Stockwell. No decency rating available.

Feb. 26-27—Vacation from Marriage—The picture depicts the oft heard of, but seldom seen, British WR NS. Robert Donat and Deborah Kerr share the leads. It is a story of a plain Englishman who becomes a sailor; his wife joins the Women's Royal Naval Service. Several authentic shots were taken during the height of the robot blitz. No decency rating available.

Feb. 28-March 1—The Fighting Frontiersman—After several weeks' absence Charles Starrett as the Durango Kid comes back to help an old friend recover some stolen gold. As usual, his sidekick Smiley Burnette helps solve the mystery after a hot gun battle. No decency rating available.

Pillars Of Freedom

CHRISTIAN BOOKS

Samuel Richardson by Brian W. Downs is the very colorful and scholarly life of Samuel Richardson, the great English writer who was the father of the modern novel. His life, his art, his age, and its consequences on Richardson are all considered with great understanding.

Captain Boycott by Philip Rooney is a romantic novel of Ireland in the Eighties—a land being slowly strangled by absentee landlords and the iron rule of the British. It is a story of intrigue and murder.

Louisiana Hayride by Harnet T. Kane is a story revealing the inward workings of the party machine that was Huey Long's legacy to American political practice. This book is a systematic account of totalitarianism functioning on North American soil, under the Constitution, under the flag, to the tune of The Star Spangled Banner.

The Messiah by Rev. Josef Pickl is neither a theological treatise nor a devotional book nor a life of Christ. It is a study of the Jewish political unrest at the time of Christ and an account of the uprisings against the Roman domination. This book does bring in the life of Christ, especially his trials before the Sanhedrin and Pilate.

Earth's Green Mantle by Sidney Mangham is the story of man's persistent efforts to understand and utilize the almost illimitable wealth of plant life forming the earth's green mantle. It is the study of the plants themselves as machines of building.

Collier Quips

By Joe Collier

As the Indiana Conference schedule draws rapidly to a close, here are the standings of various teams the Pumas have opposed this season:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Evansville	3	0	1.000
Indiana State	5	2	.714
Huntington	11	6	.647
Indiana Central	8	5	.615
Valparaiso	3	3	.500
St. Joseph's	2	6	.250
Hanover	2	10	.167

This week finds Dick Collins holding down the fifteenth spot in the Conference scoring race with 181 points. Ray Patterson is nineteenth with 163 points, and Bill Krodel ranks twenty-first with 158 points.

The big gun in the scoring race is Johnny Wilson, Anderson College center. To date, he is far out in front with 440 points, and has a wonderful opportunity to break the existing record of 464 points held by Gus Doerner of Evansville. With four games in which to do it, Johnny thus far has averaged 20.9 points a game. Indiana fans may remember it was this same Wilson that led Anderson High School to the state championship last year.

Attending to the fact that the Pumas were really hot in their game with the Chicago Teachers is this bit of information. They fired away 90 times from the field and hit for a very healthy 30.

Last Saturday night's game may have been an indication of the great improvement the Pumas have made since the beginning of the season. St. Joseph's opened with Chicago Teachers and managed to bring home a victory only after a thrilling overtime. Saturday they beat this same team by 39 points.

A spectator viewing the amount of activity in the fieldhouse on a Saturday afternoon could easily see the part St. Joseph's is taking in bearing out the adage that Indiana is truly "the hot-bed of basketball."

Xavier I-M Boasts Junior-Senior Loops

Under the direction of Richard Grever, Xavier intramural games were inaugurated Feb. 14 for the remainder of the season. Two leagues were determined at the athletic meeting held two days previous.

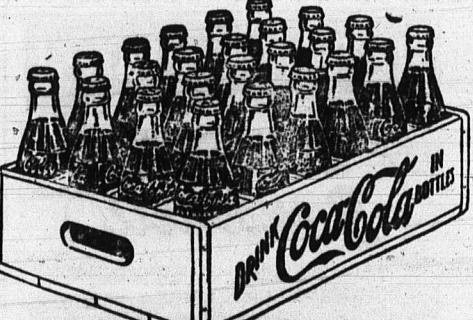

Robert Hunt, Cyril Sutter, Richard Grever, and Clinton Furbach will captain the senior teams—the Zephyrs, Jets, Musketeers, and Dukes respectively.

In the Junior league, Donald Vogl, James Miller, Richard Wise, Kenneth Forsthoefel, and Harold Pluth will lead the Crusaders, Bullets, Bulldogs, Cavaliers, and Rattlers.

Cosgrove Men Rout Teachers By 41 Points

St. Joseph's drubbed Chicago Teachers 82 to 43 Feb. 15 in the fieldhouse. Striking a keynote to the night's proceedings, Ed Alles hit from far out for the Pumas after less than thirty seconds had elapsed. This lead was increased to 8-0 at the end of three minutes of play. Salerio finally put his team into the scoring column with a push shot.

Accuracy and rebound control gave St. Joseph's a 43-23 half-time margin. Bud Greif was especially efficient with his set shot.

Shortly following the beginning of the second half, Coach Cosgrove sent in a complete new team. He eventually used every player on the bench. Showing the same accuracy as the first string, the substitutes continued to widen the margin.

Ray Patterson was high for the Pumas with 19 points. Bud Greif ended up with 13, Dick Collins with 12, and Ed Alles with 10.

Oxford Hands Cubs Fifth Seasonal Loss

Oxford's rangy basketball quintet, paced by the lanky Gene Edmonds, downed St. Joseph's Academy Cubs Feb. 15, by the score of 44-31. The contest was played as a preliminary to the College-Chicago Teachers main attraction.

Oxford jumped into a 6-0 lead and stayed ahead throughout the game. The Cubs, minus the services of senior guard Jerry Diver, could not cope with the superior height of the Oxford five. The Cubs trailed 17-11 at halftime, and after the third period, 27-20. Oxford lengthened the count during the final stanza to win going away.

Edmonds took scoring honors easily by caging 22 points. Bob Woodcock, the Cubs' sophomore forward, netted 14 to pace his team.

Intramural basketball got off to a belated start last Monday as the teams swung into action on the newly completed intramural basketball courts. Because of the construction work which has been going on in the St. Joe athletic plant, the start of the intramural season was delayed.

Fred Jones, student intramural director, divided the 18 participating quintets into a Class A and a Class B league. He stated that the play-offs and the championship encounter would end the season near the middle of March.

In both the A and the B leagues the team finishing first will play the team finishing third, and the runner-up in both leagues will meet the fourth-place team in the play-offs. The Class A play-off victor will engage the Class B victor in the championship tilt.

Captains and names of the 18 teams are as follows:

Class A
Dopes	Angermeier

Pumas Drop Road Battle To Scrappy Central Five

Traveling to Indianapolis Feb. 12, the Pumas ran afoul of a last-half drive and dropped a contest to Indiana Central 45-40.

From the opening whistle the game was close, the lead changing hands several times during the initial period. The Pumas, led by Bill Krodel, managed to hold a one-point 20-19 advantage at the intermission.

The second half was played in much the same manner as the first with neither team establishing a definite lead until the Central five staged a drive late in the contest to give them their five-point victory.

Cubs Win Easily From Wheatfield

Scoring their eleventh victory in 16 contests this season, St. Joseph's Academy Cubs handily defeated Wheatfield Feb. 18 by the score of 50 to 32.

The Cub first five gave St. Joe a 13-3 first-quarter lead. The reserves took over during the second quarter and allowed Wheatfield to creep up to 15-13 at intermission. The reserves remained in the game during the third canto, which ended with St. Joe still in front 28-23. In the final stanza the Cub varsity returned to the fray to add 22 points to the St. Joe scoring column.

John Raster contributed nine fielders and a brace of charity tosses to lead the Cubs with 20 points. Al Cantieri scored 12. The Wheatfield five was paced by Potts, who garnered 16.

EDWARD J. ALLES—only Puma squad member who has moved up from the second to the first string quintet since the present basketball season opened. A freshman, Ed comes from Jasper High School.

Owens and McGrath scored 15 and 12 points, respectively, to lead Indiana Central. Bill Krodel, who has been hitting more consistently of late, dumped in 15 for the Pumas.

Billiards Tournament On Sectional Basis Now In Progress

The Collegiate Sectional Qualifying Billiards Tournament is now in progress. Twenty-seven colleges, St. Joseph's included, are taking part in the meet, which is being conducted on a telephone basis. This allows players to participate without leaving their home campus.

The pocket billiards tournament was held last Wednesday, the St. Joe team taking part from the Raleigh Club rooms. Results of this meet are not yet available. Next Contest Feb. 26

On Feb. 26 the straight-rail billiards tournament will take place. The Puma cuemen will again participate from the Raleigh Club, the results being telephoned to Chicago. The team includes Bob Laney, George Ellspermann, Don Smith, Ray Heitzman, and Bob Reilly, with Roger Clark, Hugh Davey, and Al Resetar alternates.

In the same manner as the preceding two, the three-cushion billiards tournament will be held on March 6. Those who are on the St. Joe three-cushion team are Bob Reilly, Dick Chmeleck, Bob Laney, Don Smith, and George Ellspermann. Al Resetar, Ray Heitzman, and Roger Clark are alternates.

If the St. Joe cuemen place high enough in these tournaments they will then be eligible to enter the Collegiate National Championship Tournament which is scheduled to begin March 19.

Grid Star Foresees Future In Bacteriological Research

Once upon a time, August 14, 1921, to be exact, there was much ado in the town of East St. Louis, Ill. It was the birth date of one of St. Joseph's June graduates, Thaddeus Swierczek.

Having lived in E. St. Louis all his life, Ted attended Central Catholic High there. He was rather active in sports, rendering his services to the football, baseball, boxing and basketball teams. As a senior he was named to the all-Catholic teams of southern Illinois in both basketball and football; he was a guard in both sports.

Ted limited his varsity athletic activities to football here at St. Joe by playing in the backfield for voice attracted the attention of Sir Henry Wood, noted conductor, through whom she obtained auditions for the Glyndebourne Opera festivals. Hectic weeks of waiting followed; finally she was chosen for the part of Zerlina in Don Giovanni.

London critics voted her the best Zerlina they had ever seen. While at Glyndebourne she also sang Pamina in The Magic Flute and Cherubino in The Marriage of Figaro. At the final performance of the festival was Mr. Edward Johnson of the Metropolitan Opera. After hearing Miss Farell he arranged for an audition with Arthur Bodanzky, then chief conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Contract With Metropolitan

As soon as Mr. Bodanzky heard her, he gave her a contract with the Metropolitan. Marita made her debut Dec. 3, 1937, under this famous conductor. Since that time she has appeared as Micaela, Sophie, Marcellina, Amour, and Zerlina.

Miss Farell has appeared at the Chicago Opera Company and the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires. While in Buenos Aires she appeared as Pamina in the first production of The Magic Flute, which was presented in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of Mozart's death. In 1944 she became an American citizen.

three years. He was on the squad throughout the twenty-four-game undefeated streak begun in 1940. This past season he was elected captain of the squad.

Enters Marine Corps

After three years at St. Joe, Ted left for the Marine Corps in June, 1943. After time at Bowling Green (Ohio) State University, Pariss Island, S. C., and Camp LeJeune, N. C., he was commissioned at Quantico, Va. He participated in the invasion of Okinawa and in the occupation of China. Last July he was discharged as a first lieutenant.

At work on his thesis for a bachelor's degree, Ted is also doing laboratory work in preparation for graduate work after he leaves here. His major subject now is biology, but he intends to go into bacteriology at St. Louis University. His thesis deals with nitrogen-fixing bacteria.

Ted has his eye on another degree, this from St. Louis. According to him, his future after that is still very uncertain.

Two Represent College At Indiana Student Meet

Nine colleges and universities were represented at Purdue last Saturday at a meeting of the Indiana regional chapter of the National Student Organization. More than half of the schools who sent delegates were Catholic. Raymond Gatzka and John Lynch attended for St. Joseph's.

Wally Cook of Purdue acted as regional chairman during the four-hour discussion session. The main topic was who will represent the Indiana chapter as chairman, and how far will the commission participate at the general meeting. Another meeting was called for March 15, when the questions will be discussed further.

New College Post Office Awaits Mailbox Shipment Space Available For 600

When new, individual mailboxes arrive, the post office will be moved from its present location in the Administration Building to the larger space provided for it in the former power plant. These boxes were ordered from the postal department in Washington months ago. Acting postmaster George Horan has been trying to meet all the technicalities involved.

If a sufficient number of mailboxes can be obtained, every student and faculty member will have his own private box. Space is adequate to accommodate the 600 or more required.

All construction work in the new location is completed. The asphalt tile floor was laid this week, and steam fitting is done. Woodwork is getting a coat of paint. The white plaster walls will not be painted this year.

Tom Scollard Leads Home-Stretch Grads

Other class offices are held by Thomas Brier, secretary, and Geo. Ellspermann, treasurer. The office of vice-president will be left vacant for the remainder of the semester.

Information concerning arrangements for the annual spring formal dance was given to the class. Also discussed was the situation concerning the arrival of the class rings which were ordered last fall.

115 Couples Celebrate At Frosh Valentine Dance

Sponsored by the freshman class, the Valentine dance held last Saturday night was attended by approximately 115 couples. From 9:30 to 12:30 they danced to the music of All Kessler and his orchestra.
